

Volunteers Wanted

Castro Valley Creek, Castro Valley

“Creek Caretakers” Walk

A volunteer opportunity to care for the recently planted creekbanks and learn about creek restoration!

SATURDAY SEPTEMBER 17TH 2011

10:00 AM TO 12:00PM

Held in conjunction with the Alameda County Resource Conservation District's Hands-On Conservation program

Students, and adult volunteers and youth groups are welcome!

Please register in advance at:
www.handsonconservation.org

Liability waiver forms for those under 18 on website; need parent signature.

Service Learning/Community Service Hours awarded for high school students!

This “Creek Caretakers” event is offered as part of The California Coastal Commission's Coastweeks Program that seeks to involve communities in protecting, enhancing and cleaning up our creeks and coastline.
www.coastforyou.org

Hope You Can Join Us!

Meet at the Castro Valley Creek trail next to the Castro Valley library (located at 3600 Norbridge Ave.)

-We'll have signs posted-

We'll be walking along the new Castro Valley Creek trail, learning ways to protect the creek, wildlife habitat and the newly planted natives on the restored creek banks.

We'll take steps to actively care for the creek by picking up trash and recycling all that we can.

Wear work clothes and sturdy shoes, and gloves if you have them. We'll provide trash pick up gear.

Hands-on-Conservation is a project of the Alameda County Resource Conservation District. Additional program funding and support provided by the Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District and Alameda County Clean Water Program– Unincorporated Area.

